The Remedy.

The tobacco growers of Mason County should read the article elsewhere on the subject. It contains some good advice. One thing is very evident, and that is, if the quality of the crop is improved, the prices will improve. By reference to the report of the Louisville market, it will be seen that the fine leaf is quoted at from $12 to $15. It is only low grade leaf that is selling so low. Where's the remedy? Quit growing so much, and let what you do grow be well handled and cared for. In other words, grow nothing but fine tobacco. Do as "Tobacco Grower" suggests. If you haven't good soil, don't attempt to grow any tobacco this year. It will be a waste of time and labor. Cultivate less ground and grow a better crop.

GENERAL C. M. CLAY, Republican candidate for Governor, is announced to speak in this city to-morrow.

THE tax-payers have had an opportunity to see the workings of the new revenue law, and the general impression seems to be favorable to it.—Catlettsburg Leader.

THE "Free Turnpikers" of Bourbon County have decided to nominate a candidate for the Legislature, and their question promises to cut quite a figure in the coming contest.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND will likely give the Republican Senators a chance to reject the appointment of another Democratic negro. The report is that Peter Clarke, a prominent negro of Cincinnati, is to be named for Recorder of Deeds, at Washington.

THE vote in Scott County on the proposition to subscribe $25,000 to the Versailles, Midway and Georgetown Railroad was taken Saturday, and resulted in a majority of 800 in favor of the question. Georgetown precinct cast 1,145 for to 38 against the proposition.

THE fight for the State offices is beginning to warm up. At Eminence last Monday, Buckner, Harris, Berry and Hardin all made speeches. General Clay and Colonel Holt talked to the citizens of Bourbon on the same day. The forces are being mustered for the contest at Louisville.

GEORGE H. THORPE, who is disputing Carlisle's election in the Covington district, thinks the Speaker has treated him unjustly, and has challenged him to another contest. This is virtually giving up the fight, and bears out what has been thought all along, that Thorpe was only seeking a little notoriety.

SENATOR BERRY, of Campbell, who imagines that the plea of self conceit rattling around in his skull is the concentrated essence of the wisdom of all the ages, has announced himself as a candidate for Governor, on a platform composed of equal parts of federal aid, anti-revenue law, and cheek.—Exchange.

J. J. ROGERS, of Woodford County, has joined in the race for office, and wants to be the next Auditor of State. Rogers is a native of Bourbon County, and has always been a good Democrat. The Democrats of Bourbon endorse his candidacy, and say he is a man of intelligence, integrity and honor. That ought to count a good deal for Rogers, but he wants to watch Fayette Hewitt. Hewitt is a man of ability, and his Revenue bill ought to, and we believe will, win him a warm support.

By a vote of 26 to 18—a party vote—the United States Senate has again rejected the appointment of James C. Mathews to be Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia. The resolution rejecting the appointment was prepared by Senator Ingalls, of Kansas. Mathews is a loyal Democrat, and Ingalls is the fellow who thinks a public office too good for a Democratic negro. It's all right, though, if the colored citizen professes fealty to the Republican party. Evidently Ingalls and his crowd realize that the appointment to office of negroes by a Democratic administration would have a "demoralizing" effect on the colored citizens and split up that element in the next national campaign. It looks like this Mathews business, however, may catch the Republicans "comin' and goin'." Their treatment of the colored lawyer from Albany, after he had been twice appointed to the office by President Cleveland, will not win their party any votes, that's evident.

A STOKER'S LIFE.

WORK THAT MUST BE DONE IN A BIG STEAMER'S FIRE ROOM.

Hemmed in Between Two Long Lines of Furnaces—A Stoker at Work—What One of the Men Says of the Vocation. What They Eat.

"How long do stokers live?" asked a reporter of an engineer of one of the swiftest ocean racers that ply between this country and England.

"As long as anybody," was the unexpected reply.

"How do they like their work?"

"If they don't like their work they get out; there are plenty willing to take their places," was the answer. But it is hard to persuade the average landsman that the stoker's life is not shortened by constant exposure to the extremes of temperature. Transatlantic passengers who have braved the intense heat of the furnaces and visited the fire room wonder how men can endure such a life even for a voyage. The stokers work four hours at a stretch, hemmed in between two long lines of furnaces that keep the temperature ordinarily at 120 degrees, sometimes sending it as high as 160. The space between the furnaces is so narrow that when the men throw in coal they must take care when they swing back their shovels lest they should burn their arms on the furnaces behind them. The only means of ventilation is one large air pipe that reaches down into the centre of the stokers' quarters, and on a big steamer the men have to take the air in batches. On a great ocean steamer like the Umbria, the men come on in gangs of eighteen stokers and twelve coal-passers, and the "watch" lasts four hours. The Umbria has seventy-two furnaces, which require nearly 350 tons of coal a day, at a cost of almost $20,000 per voyage. One hundred and four men are employed to man the furnaces and they have enough to do. They include the chief engineer, his three assistants and ninety stokers and coal passers.

TENDING THE FURNACES.

The stoker comes on to work wearing only a thin undershirt, light trousers and wooden shoes. On the Umbria each stoker tends four furnaces. He first rakes open the furnaces, tosses in the coal, and then cleans the fire—that is, pries the coals apart with a heavy iron bar, in order that the fire may burn freely. He rushes from one furnace to another, spending perhaps two or three minutes at each. Then he dashes to the air pipe, takes his turn at cooling off, and waits for another call to his furnaces, which comes speedily. When the watch is over the men shuffle off, dripping with sweat from head to foot, through long cold galleries to the forecastle, where they turn in for eight hours. Four hours of scorching and eight hours' sleep make up the routine of a stoker's life on a voyage.

The reporter ran across a group of stokers in West street and had a chat with one of them. "I went to sea as a coal passer when I was 14 years old," he said. "Then I got to be a stoker, and I am now 23." The speaker was about six feet in height and weighed 180 pounds or more. His face was ruddy with health and his eyes beamed with good nature. His robust appearance was in strong contrast to that of some of his mates who had just landed from a voyage—a pale, streaked-out, listless looking set of men.

"How do we stand the work? Well enough if we get plenty to eat. But the work is terribly hard all the same. It comes hardest, of course, on those who don't follow it regularly. They are the fellows who get played out so badly. I heard once of a young English doctor who came over here on a visit. He got out of money, and was that proud that he wouldn't send home for some. So he worked his way back as a stoker, and got a sickness that he could never get rid of. But if we get plenty to eat and take care of ourselves we are all right. Here's a mate of mine nearly 70 years old, who has been a stoker all his life, and can do as good work as I can. Stokers never have the consumption and rarely catch cold."

THAT STREAKED-OUT LOOK.

"Why do you appear more healthy than the other men here?" asked the reporter.

"Well, I have been on land now about two weeks, and these men just came off the ship. You see, when we finish our watch at the furnaces we are just covered with sweat, dirt and oil, and we have to wash the stuff off with warm water. Washing so much with warm water gives us that streaked-out look that makes people think we are being killed with consumption. But after we have been on land three or four days that look disappears and the men look natural again. We get more ventilation than the old timers used to get, but we don't have any too much. I tell you, when I used to go down into the tropics I wanted to keep under the air pipe all I could. Now I go to England and back, and have four furnaces to tend. Four hours is just about as much as we can stand before the fires. It uses some of the men up so badly that when the watch is over they can just crawl to the forecastle and throw themselves on their bunks without washing a bit. But others of us don't mind it so much. We heat our water, take a wash, and then have a pipe or two before turning in."

"What do you eat and drink?"

"We have hash, all the oatmeal we want, coffee and other good things."

"How about the grog?"

"Well, the fact is that the grog was knocked off about eight years ago on the English and American lines. The truth is that the men got drunk too much, and grog did them much harm. When I used to take my grog I'd work just like a lion while the effects lasted. I'd throw in coal like a giant and not mind the heat a bit; but when it worked off, as it did in a very few minutes, I was that weak that a child could upset me."—New York Tribune.

MANUFACTURE OF BOGUS WINES.

"Imported" Brands Made in a New York Basement—Distillation of Raisins.

There are several old Frenchmen in New York who have made almost national reputations as wine dealers and experts. They have about retired from business, but, with the proverbial thrift of their nation, they still find time to tend to their shops a few hours daily. Some of them have large restaurants in connection with their wholesale and retail wine trade, and favored customers are often given an opportunity to snack their lips over some rare old wine, whose label is too dust begrimed to be legible, and as they hold the wine to the light they become enthusiastic over its color, flavor, and bouquet, and probably order several dozen bottles of it sent to their homes.

Now this wine may be old and it may be new. It may have been imported from France, or perchance it was pressed out on the sunny Italian hills; but it is more than probable that the old Frenchman, unless he knows that his customer has a trained and delicate palate, has given him some wine that is but the partial product of the vine, and was concocted under the skilled eye of monsieur in the sub-basement of the very establishment where it is drunk. Why should one find fault? It is surely more complimentary in a host to give one the result of his own labor than to furnish one with that of another. If it is a real wine there is exactly one chance in 10,000 that it is what the label represents it to be. It may be the outcome of a judicious mixture of several indifferent varieties blended into a harmonious whole, or it may be an American wine sailing under false colors.

Human ingenuity has never yet been able to make wine without some small percentage of alcohol, so this element remains as a base for the worst of productions. As a rule the manufactured wines are offered either as California wines, or as vin ordinaire, or sour claret. They are the distillation of raisins colored with logwood. The raisins are placed in a vat filled with water at a temperature of 60 degrees, there being fifty-five gallons of water to every hundredweight of raisins. Some sugar is often thrown in to hasten fermentation, which usually lasts eight or ten days, at the end of which time the liquid is drawn off and wine is made. It is, of course, pale, and it is decorated with some high colored Spanish wine, which is cheap, and then a solution of logwood is added. These wines do not, at the most, contain more than 10 per cent. of alcohol, and having but little tannin they will not keep long. When wine is thus produced it will not cost much. Raisins are not expensive, and a moldy article answers as well as one that is fresh. A noted French chemist has declared that the raisin wine, if not drugged, is vastly more beautiful than many of the mixtures, most of them deleterious, sold for genuine wine. This may give wine drinkers a spark of encouragement, for there is no way of accounting for the consumption of the enormous raisin products of Italy, Turkey, Spain and Greece, unless one admits that they are used to take the place of grapes.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

President of the Western Union.

Dr. Norvin Green, president of the Western Union, keeps in ruddy health by taking plenty of exercise and permitting nothing to worry him. He is as simple and unaffected in his habits as one of his native blue grass farmers. He asserts that he made the best discovery of his long life in Washington, two or three years ago, when he tasted one of John Chamberlin's deviled crabs. Dr. Green says that the man who invented this toothsome dish should have a monument. When Dr. Green came to New York he says that he was astonished to find that the best business men never drank anything during business hours, though some of them made good the daylight abstinence by evening libations, he found.—New York Sun.

Mistake of the Reporter.

Speaking of ex-President Johnson while on his memorable trip to Chicago in October, 1865, he stopped over at the Continental hotel in Philadelphia on the first night out of Washington, and during the reception in that city a delegation of tailors passed the hotel carrying a transparency presenting Adam and Eve constructing their fig leaf garments. Johnson saw this, and in his harangue to the paraders told them, "Our father and head was a tailor." What was Mr. Johnson's surprise the next morning to find these words reported: "Our Father in Heaven was a tailor," and an editorial attack upon him in The Press for blasphemy!—Cor. New York Times.

One of the Brave Detectives Dies.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 9.—Detective Hurligan, one of the officers assaulted by the rescuers of the fur robber last Friday morning, died this morning from the effects of his injuries. Capt. Hoehen, the other officer assaulted, is steadily improving and his recovery is now considered probable. Nothing new has been learned with regard to the whereabouts of the robber and his pals. The officers who have been searching for them in the vicinity of Ravenna last night returned to Cleveland. It is not known what the next move will be.

His Body Found.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 9.—The body of Michael Strum, aged forty-four, who had been missing from his home at Licking since February 3, was found at 10 a. m. to-day on the bank of Millcreek among a lot of bushes. It is supposed that he wandered away from home during a fit of temporary insanity and was drowned, and the high water, receding, left the body where it was found.

Fire in a Coal Pile.

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 9.—Fire has been discovered in the centre of a pile of 25,000 tons of coal belonging to the Boston & Albany railroad, near the Bloomingdale road. Forty men were at work shoveling Sunday, and nearly one hundred yesterday, but the heat makes the work difficult, and nearly, or quite half of the pile will be consumed.

Preparing for Hoke's Trial.

PEORIA, Ill., Feb. 9.—The state's attorneys are drawing up indictments against Finley Hoke. The grand jury organized yesterday. Hoke, it is said, will engage A. S. Trade or Luther Laffin Mills, of Chicago, possibly both, for the defense. Attempts will be made to include over fifty drafts in the forgery charges, to exclude the possibility of Hoke's furnishing bail.

Such is Life.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 9.—Augustus Littlejohn, who forty years ago was one of the most popular orators of the day, and rivalled Gough as a temperance lecturer, applied last night to the superintendent of the poor at Kalamazoo for subsistence as a pauper. It is stated that Bishop Littlejohn, of Long Island, and the late Hon. DeWitt C. Littlejohn were his nephews.

Hot Cinders Cause Two Deaths.

LEBANON, Pa., Feb. 9.—Yesterday morning, near Lebanon Valley furnace, an iron tank on a truck filled with red-hot cinder collided with another car, and the hot metal was thrown over the bodies of Peter Reddinger, aged forty-five years, and Henry Kurtz, aged thirty-eight years. Reddinger died soon after the accident and Kurtz died this morning.

Temporarily Relieved.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 9.—In the case of Trustees Williamson and Davidson, indicted for receiving excessive fees, the indictments were quashed, but the trustees are required to enter into a new bond of $150 each for appearance before the next grand jury. The indictments as drawn were faulty.

"The Blood is the Life."

Thoroughly cleanse the blood, which is the fountain of health, by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution will be established.

Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the common pimple, blotch, or eruption, to the worst scrofula or blood-poison. Especially has it proven its efficacy in curing salt rheum or tetter, fever sores, hip-joint disease, scrofulous sores and swellings, enlarged glands, and eating ulcers.

Golden Medical Discovery cures consumption (which is scrofula of the lungs) by its wonderful blood-purifying, invigorating, and nutritive properties. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, bronchitis, severe coughs, asthma and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. It promptly cures the severest coughs.

For torpid liver, biliousness, or "liver complaint," dyspepsia and indigestion, it is an unequalled remedy. Sold by druggists.

TOBACCO MARKET.

Furnished by Glover & Durrett, proprietors Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.

The sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 2,282 hhds., with receipts for the same period of 1,890 hhds. Sales since January 1st, amount to 10,417 hhds. Prices for new burley tobacco have been irregular for the past week, which was due in part to the character of the offerings. Low grade new burleys were at times lower, and medium flinty burleys, except the last class of these grades, were also more favorable to buyers. The better grades were steady. Old burleys remain about the same.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for new burley:

Mr. Trabue, one of the parties enlisted in the enterprise, is firmly of the opinion that the concentration of at least six roads to a valley near the Big Stone Gap, on the Cumberland range, will produce another phenomenal city equal to Birmingham in less than three years. ## The Tobacco Crop.

The great, money crop—far beyond any other—of the State of Kentucky is unquestionably tobacco. Not that wheat, corn and grass are not to be ranked above it in usefulness, but as an article of exchange—a commodity that has brought more money, and will continue to bring more, to the producer than any other crop of the State, tobacco holds the first place. And under fair average conditions it will continue to do so.

But, at present, prices are depleted, the net income is below a paying figure, and it is in regard to this item we would call the considerate attention of the reader. Considering the value of land, the price of labor, and the expense of handling, the present price of this grand paying, great money-producing crop of Kentucky is below the actual cost price of production. And we venture the assertion that but for two things, "the hope of better times," and the millions invested in buildings and pictures, the planting this season would be 80 per cent. less than formerly. But these millions of hard-earned money are invested, and the crying question of the State, among rich and poor, trader, merchant and laboring man, is how to remedy this crop—how to make it pay better, and every man has his theory.

Says one, "Tax, tax! It is the tax." Another says, "The rich manufacturers have monopolized the business, and are dictating prices." While still another says, "It is the want of a proper export market." Now, while all these things do have a marked effect, and greatly reduce the price, there is another reason, and a better reason still; a reason that is within the control of the producer himself. And let him look to that first; let him do first what should be first done.

The vast quantity of inferior tobacco with which our markets are over-stocked—tobacco that intrinsically is not worth more than it is bringing now, but which is bought up at these low prices, and used instead of the better grades in such quantities as will supply the needs of the trade, thus crowding out or at least lowering the prices of the better tobacco—this, we believe, is the key to the whole matter. Do away with this inferior damaged "stuff" that is being shipped into the markets year after year, in thousands and thousands of hogheads, and you have the "sesame" to the whole matter, to good prices, a new era of activity in the trade, and to an extent that has not been enjoyed for many years. But how do this, you say? How stop this influx of poor tobacco? Nothing easier. Stop growing it. Only plant your best land, and if you have no land that will grow tobacco, do not try it, for it will not pay you, and will injure your neighbor. Again, only plant so much good land as you can cultivate properly and handle well. Let "less acreage, better cultivation and careful handling" be your motto. Keep your tilled and otherwise damaged stuff at home and use it for fertilizing instead of selling it. Two acres well cared for will yield more than three neglected, misused and badly handled. Do as the Pennsylvanians, who only plant what they can carefully cultivate, and who instead of running their land down, have by a judicious system of fertilizing brought lands that originally yielded 1,200 pounds per acre up to 2,000, and in some cases 2,600 pounds, improving not only their land, but their tobacco also, in every essential, uniformity of color, size nicotine, and more essential still, in prices, until they grow on four acres 8,000 pounds at 12 cents, or $240 per acre, while we on eight acres possibly grow 8,000 pounds, and sell it for half what they receive for theirs. He that is wise let him be benefited. There are, it is estimated, about one billion people who use tobacco in some form, so that you are sure of a market if you have good tobacco. But look at the statistics of our markets, principally of inferior kinds, and see if you do not find sufficient reason to curtail your planting this coming spring 50, or at least 33 per cent., making your acreage one-third less. The tobacco shipped from the West to the seaboard in 1886 was 161,507 hogheads, while in 1882 it was only 97,654, a difference of nearly 63,000 hogheads, principally of inferior tobacco, while New York alone shipped the past year 124,632 hogheads, and in 1884 only 92,244, or 32,000 less. All these thousands of hogheads being a surplus of low grade tobacco produced in the West, above what was needed for home consumption and manufacture, while the surplus of fine tobacco is estimated at comparatively nothing. Whether the reader is influenced to action or not by what I have said, he at least can see that by a community of action on the part of the growers, they can bring prices up to at least 10, if not 12 cents per pound, by the difference in quality, and still lose but little in quantity by the increase per acre. Let your motto be for at least one year, "One-third less acreage, better handling and in the end better prices."

Tobacco Grower.

THE Year Commenced With Luck. They had invested in the 200th monthly grand distribution of the Louisiana State Lottery, which took place on Tuesday, (always Tuesday) January 11, 1887, under the sole supervision of Generals G. T. Beauregard, of Louisiana, and Jubal A. Early, of Virginia, (as is usually the case). $535,000 was sent flying all over the world. Here is where some of it went: No. 91,960 drew first capital prize of $150,000, sold in tenths at $1 each, sent to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La. One went to Cornelius Beannon, a well-known citizen of St. Louis, Mo.; one to Ben Kiam, a popular clothing merchant of Messrs. Kiam Bros., of Houston, Texas; one to a depositor in the Central Bank of New Orleans; one to F. J. Gilmore, paid through First National Bank of Los Angeles, Cal.; one to J. Cain, Norfolk, Va., paid through the Anglo-Californian Bank, limited, of San Francisco, Cal.; one paid to Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Bank, San Francisco, Cal.; one to John Campbell, North Muskegon, Mich.; one to Alma Elder, Princeton, Kas.; the other tenths went elsewhere. No. 35,744 drew the second capital prize of $50,000, also sold in tenths at $1 each. One went to S. P. Hill of New Orleans, La.; one to William Whalen, a watchman at the Mississippi and Tennessee R. R. depot, Memphis, Tenn., paid through the Bank of Commerce there; one to Ohas. Mitchell, of Pecan Point, Ark., paid through Bank of Commerce, Memphis, Tenn; one to a depositor in the People's Bank of New Orleans; the remaining successful names are withheld. No. 88,637 drew the third capital prize of $20,000, was sold to a party in San Jose, Costa Rica, C. A. Nos. 79,744 and 99,980 drew the fourth two capital prizes of $10,000 each, and were sold in tenths, at $1 each, to parties in New York City, Washington, D. C., San Francisco, Sacramento City and Santa Rosa, Cal., Baltimore, Md., Grenola, Kan., Maryville, Mo.; Memphis, Tenn., Savannah, Ga., Whiteville, N. C., Bentonville, Ark.; Allentown, Pa., Fairfax, Va., etc., and so the wheel revolved on. It will go around again on March 15, and anyone can obtain any information about it on application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La. Why not catch at this chance for a fortune?

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shephard, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25c per box by J. C. Pecor & Co., and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

Good Results in Every Case.

THE BULGARIAN QUESTION

OFFICIAL DISPATCHES ON THE AFFAIR
MADE PUBLIC.

What Passed between the Russian and British Governments Regarding the Situation—A Rumor That Alsace-Lorraine Will Soon Be in a State of Siege.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The official dispatches which passed between the foreign office and St. Petersburg with regard to the Bulgarian question are made public to-day. The dispatches show that the czar approved of Gen. Kanlars' efforts in Bulgaria and that the czar is determined to continue his efforts to restore complete independence in full to that country.

Lord Iddesleigh, the late secretary for foreign affairs, in his reply declared that Russian impressions as to the position of Great Britain in the matter widely differed from the real sentiments entertained by his government. The British government equally desired to maintain the existing treaties and obtain a peaceful solution of the Bulgarian imbroglio.

Pushing Forward Military Measures.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 9.—The government has introduced a bill in the chamber of deputies asking for a grant of 49,000,000 francs over and above the estimates submitted in the budget, 19,000,000 of which are to be expended in pushing forward military measures.

Further Report of the Battle.

ROME, Feb. 9.—A statement is published to-day that the Abyssinians lost 5,000 killed and wounded in the battle with the Italian forces near Massawah, on the 26th ult. Premier DePretis announced in the chamber of deputies to-day that the cabinet had resigned.

Serious Political Situation.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—The Berliner Nachrichten says that Field Marshal Von Moltke, in receiving a deputation of Conservative electors, declared that the political situation was most serious, and authorized the deputation to give publicity to his statement.

Bank Failure in London.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The West London Commercial bank failed to open its doors to-day. The bank had been doing only a limited business, and was chiefly engaged in advancing loans to small tradesmen.

Soon Be in a State of Siege.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The stock exchange markets are very flat on lower quotations from Berlin and rumors that Alsace-Lorraine will soon be declared in a state of siege.

Won't Use the American-Lee Gun.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Globe denies the statement published in the Pall Mall Gazette that the Government intends to adopt the American-Lee rifle for use in the army.

Preparing for War.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—The chamber of deputies to-day passed the extra war and naval budgets without debate or scrutiny.

A SUNDAY PRIZE FIGHT.

John Harrigan and Jack Taylor Fight Ten Rounds in New Jersey.

Mr. HOLLY, N. J., Feb. 9.—While the good people of this place were engaged in divine worship Sunday afternoon a hotly contested prize fight was in progress on the summit of the mound in the rear of the reservoir. The principals were John Harrigan, a clever fighter from Philadelphia, and Jack Taylor, a Mt. Holly sport, who was impressed with the idea that this sphere was the prize ring, and that no ordinary fighter could make him quit. The stakes were $100 aside and it was a fight to a finish. Both men were in good condition and Taylor had the advantage in size and weight, but Harrigan was a good deal quicker, and managed to get away from Taylor's sledge-hammer blows pretty often.

Ten rounds in all were fought without interference on the part of the police, and wound up by Harrigan winning the fight. At the outset each of the fighters scored several knockdowns, after which they grew cautious and waited for a favorable opportunity for a knockout, but toward the last it was give and take without much attempt to avoid punishment. Taylor was badly cut up about the face when the fight ended, but Harrigan got off with a few cuts about the body and left for home in good trim.

Panic in a Theater.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The cracking of a defective steam radiator in Hyde & Behman's Brooklyn theater last night, caused alarm and some one cried fire. A panic ensued, the 2,000 persons making a rush for the exits. Two soldiers from Fort Hamilton, who were near the main door, did excellent service in checking the panic and stopping the rush. They were reinforced by the police, and Mr. Behman made an explanation from the stage which helped in bringing people to their senses. Several women fainted, but no one was seriously injured. The theater stands on the former site of a building which was used as a morgue for the 265 victims of the Brooklyn theater fire several years ago.

Benefit for Dr. McGlynn Stopped.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Rev. Dr. McGlynn was seen by a reporter last night. He said he desired the subscription for his benefit discontinued, and the proposed entertainment for the same purpose abandoned. He had already received enough for immediate expenses, and felt that the poor had been drained enough. His first impulse had been to refuse the fund, but when he saw the devotion shown by the people, he did not wish to offend them by refusing their kindness. He added that if deprived of his priestly functions he would be able to earn his living by voice and pen. He could never be anything but a Catholic.

Arrested for Forgery.

KOKOMO, Ind., Feb. 9.—Perry Sloan, who has for some time been in the forgery business, and who decamped last Wednesday after an unsuccessful attempt to pass a note for $200 on which the endorsement of Hon. D. C. Spraker had been forged, was captured last night in Kentland, this state, and brought to Kokomo to-day. Sloan has a wife and family here, and is certain of a good term in the state prison.

Missing Man's Remains Found.

TIFFIN, O., Feb. 9.—The body of Garrett Beck, the old man who disappeared from his daughter's home at Fort Seneca several weeks ago, was found under a brush heap near there last night. The body was entirely covered with brush, and while some think the old man crawled into the brush for shelter, others believe he was murdered. The coroner is investigating the matter.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Topics of the Times Given in a Terse and Spicy Manner.

The Ohio river receded one foot and eight inches yesterday, at Cincinnati, and will soon be within its banks.

The friends of August Spies have asked Maj. C. H. Blackburn, of Cincinnati, to defend the Anarchists.

The supreme court of Louisiana has declared the Sunday closing law constitutional. It will be enforced in New Orleans.

The president has respite until March 4 John Washington and Simon Wolf, two Indians sentenced to hang at Wichita, Kan., for rape.

The Dennison Paper Co., near Portland, Me., has suspended. Liabilities $40,000. The company alleges a strike as the cause of the trouble.

Ex-Governor Abbott received three votes for United States senator from the formal meeting of the New Jersey assembly. With Madden seated, Abbott's election is certain.

Dr. Ford, who shot and killed J. C. Kirkpatrick, the betrayer of the doctor's wife, at New Orleans, has been sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment. He will be pardoned.

Martin McLean, treasurer of the Telegraphers' Aid and Literary association of Boston, has left for parts unknown, carrying nearly $1,000 of the association's money with him.

Judge Huston holds that the franchise of the Columbia & Cincinnati Street Railroad company to the occupation of Eastern avenue is legal, and the dummy track will not be disturbed.

The United States supreme court has sustained the lower court in its findings in the case of S. A. Northway, president of the Second National bank of Jefferson, O., who was convicted of embezzlement.

A joint resolution was adopted by the West Virginia legislature heartily approving the Centennial exposition to be held at Cincinnati, and requesting the governor to appoint five commissioners to represent that state.

Testimony before the coroner, in the Blizard murder mystery at Greenville, O., developed the fact that the victim was last seen in a buggy with a Mrs. Rhoades. Neither the woman nor the horse and buggy have been seen since.

In the superior court of Charlotte, N. C., judgment for $1,200 was rendered against the Western Union Telegraph company for failure to deliver a dispatch from a Charlotte merchant to a New York firm to cover 500 bales of cotton futures.

The Cincinnati centennial commission has asked the common council to appoint a committee of five to assist the commission; has elected Governor Foraker and Mayor Smith honorary members; has indorsed the petition for a legislative appropriation for the Harrison statue and has indorsed the project for a new city hall.

Judge Huston has dissolved the temporary injunction granted upon the complaint of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad company, to retain the Emerys from levying upon cars in New York, to satisfy a judgment of $121,238.15 received against the company. The judgment was obtained in 1882 on interest coupons on 991 first mortgage bonds of the road, and will now have to be paid.

A. S. Austin, a rich crank, who is said to have made his money in southern speculation, is creating a sensation in New York. He will walk along the streets with his pockets overflowing with $5 gold pieces, and every person he meets he halts, gazes into their eye, and if he thinks they are honest, presses a gold piece in their hand and passes on. Recently he bought an armful of boxes of the choicest cigars and insisted upon treating everybody as they left a theater.

And is the best remedy for the cure of all affections of the Throat, Lungs and Chest, such as Consumption, Colds, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Pain or Oppression of the Chest, Hoarseness, Spitting of Blood, and all Pulmonary Diseases.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED!
We have the gratifying fact to know that it can be cured with GOOCH'S MEXICAN SYRUP. Tuberculous matter is nothing more than nourishment imperfectly organized. Now, if we can procure the organization of this food material so that through the process of electric affinity it may take its place in the system, we can cure the disease. This is just what this Syrup does. It at once stops the progress of the disease by preventing the further supply of tuberculous matter, for while the system is under its influence all nourishment is organized and assimilated. It thus controls Coughs, Night Sweats and all other symptoms of Consumption. Consumption is one of the most loathsome and terrible of all fatal diseases, and makes the life of the poor consumptive a hell on earth. Until recently that terrible disease has been considered an affliction beyond the reach of medicine; but a new era in the management of pulmonary diseases seems to be dawning upon the scientific medical world, and since many distinguished physicians have acknowledged that consumption can be cured, few there are who attempt to controvert their opinion. To those singled out as victims to that fatal malady, we offer a remedy sure in its result of bringing back health to their poor weakened frames, and joy to the hearts of their friends.

Consumptives, because all other things fail, believe not that MEXICAN SYRUP will. Not a single sufferer need perish if he or she will take GOOCH'S MEXICAN SYRUP in time. A cough is unlike any other symptom of disease. It stands a conspirator, with threatening vice, menacing the health and existence of a vital organ; so commence at once at the first indication of a cough. TRY IT, you who suffer, and be convinced. Do you want to be saved from a consumptive's grave? Then make one more trial. This remedy is in the reach of everybody; it only costs 50 cents a bottle. Is your life not worth 50 cents? I so, make one more trial. Is not your life indeed worth one more trial? Test the truth of our words, I only by one single bottle; and never give way to despair till you are certain there is no hope. It has cured thousands, and it will cure you. As we would plead with a friend to save him from taking his own life, we plead with you to save yourselves from a premature grave. We positively guarantee a perceptible and continuous improvement when the medicine is faithfully and persistently used.
